20.9: Chapter 9 (Infection)

Answer Key to Chapter 9 Learning Activities

1. Based upon Ms. Jamison’s current vital signs and presenting condition, one would suspect the patient is septic. Her current vital signs reflect an elevated temperature > 100.4 and a tachycardic heart rate. Additionally, based upon the patient’s history, one would suspect she has an unresolved urinary tract infection.

Answers to interactive elements are given within the interactive element.